

2005 Vancouver Conference

What They Said About the Conference...

"This was my first conference so I was impressed with all the activities. Of specific interest was the educational session on Steel. The information learned there is helping our company fabricate new beams for our own use. The site visit to Nickel Bros. yard was also extremely beneficial. We saw new or different technologies that will be useful to us at our company."

Peter Tobin, Senior Technologist,
Heneault et Gosselin, Inc,
Riviere-Du-Loup, Quebec, Canada

"As a long time mover I have many friends in the industry and it is always nice to visit with fellow movers and renew friendships which I can always do at an IASM conference. The driving force that caused me to attend this year in Vancouver, however, was two educational sessions: the ones on steel and Character."

"I believe this has been one of the best conferences as far as providing educational opportunities for attendees. Dr. Daniali is always a winner. Attendees really enjoyed the session on Character and the Roundtable Discussions were quite lively."

"This is the first time my son Andreas and I have attended one of your conferences. We have been members of the Association for only a couple of years. I have been impressed with how smoothly everything goes. The meeting is very efficient. This is the first time we have been with so many movers in one place at the same time. We are happy to be here and hope to attend many more."

Magnus Martensson

"I always enjoy being with the members of this Association (IASM). They are eager to learn and always have good questions. This is my fifth time to be with you. I am an educator so it is fun to be in sessions like you have planned for education. I hope you will invite me again."

Dr. Saeed Daniali, Director,
School of Business Management,
University of Washington
Seattle, Washington
(Dr. Daniali presented a session on Steel, Strength and Performance.)

"We have had some good social functions before but the Maguire Agency President's Reception on the top of the Fairmont Hotel was fabulous. The food was outstanding and the view was magnificent. The members were really having a very good time. The reception was scheduled from 6:30 to 8:30 but lots of people were still there visiting until past 10:30."
