COVER:

Six guys, employees of IASM member S. Hauck, LLC of Egg Harbor TWP, NJ, raised the 107-115 year old building in Longport, NJ 40 inches in order to be in compliance with current building codes. S. Hauck was engaged by a general contractor to elevate the structure that sets directly over the steep-banked bay. Because the structural mover was able to lift the building without any damage or modifications the owners want to keep the look of the building exactly the same as it has been for the 70 years it has been in their possession.

Hauck and his employees have been hired to raise a structure next door using the same method.
